

Nemo and Niyah are brother and sister. This story follows a normal day at school for the pair. The children use the power of their imaginations to make exciting changes to people's lives. They also point out how important it is to treat friends with love and respect; to help them when they need it, and to be there for each other. The story shows how love and imagination can alter our pathway through life. Nemo and Niyah teach us how staying happy and maintaining a positive attitude will help us to remain optimistic, therefore, helping us to believe in ourselves. This is a terrific book to read to your little ones to encourage them to see the importance of friendship, and to see that exercising the imagination is necessary for a successful and happy life.
