

TELL TANNER TALES, Were Adopted! is the first in a series of childrens interactive stories. Written to provide an outlet for youngsters who have been adopted, I hope to help them share their feelings in a non-judgmental format. Tanner is a real dog, personified as the main character and narrator of the stories, which are based on real experiences after his adoption from the shelter. After each of Tanners exploits there is a page with a simple but probing question for the reader. This page, with a paw print in the background, is offered for the reader to write or draw about his or her own feelings and experiences. As a retired elementary teacher, I found much too often, children do not know how to express their apprehensions and uncertainties. Young people want to share and feel validation of what is happening in their lives, and I found that my dog, Tanner, many times, became a confidant and trusted friend to my young students. I hope that the Tell Tanner Tales will fulfill a need in children while entertaining them with Tanners ups and downs learning to live with his new family.
